PARTS LISTS BOOKLET

Current Prices: Produce a new price list at any time. Click on the New Parts List link found at: www.catalinadirect.com > Handbooks > C-25 Owner's Handbook. We make every effort to insure the data on our web store that is used to compile this on demand price list for you is accurate. However, with over 7000 items in our store and early boats with as much as 38 years of "experience", there will be errors.

In particular, many parts for older boats are sold only rarely. It is possible that the last inventory we received was the last of a large batch produced years ago when Catalina was building hundreds of Catalina 25's every season. If we run out and have to establish an entirely new supply chain to bring you that part, there could be a significant price increase. Prices are subject to change without prior notice.

We will never ship you a part that has increased in price without calling for your approval first. If you order a part online, and upon processing your order we discover that we don't currently have the part available to ship within a few days, we will call you to let you know.

PARTS LISTS CONVENTIONS

A Word about the year of your boat: Over the years, various parts on the Catalina 25 have changed. Running lights are an example. Lights used on the first boat built in 1976 are not the same lights used today. When Catalina changed a part from one year to the next, we indicate the years a part was used with abbreviations as illustrated by the examples below.

A caveat: Years are only approximate. Catalina will make a change anytime during a model year when improvement is possible. They don't wait for a change in model year to make the improvement.

In addition: Sometimes the factory is forced to make a change due to outside forces. For example: When one of their vendors discontinued an item and Catalina is forced to substitute a different item.

Production changes: The production of the Catalina 25 commenced in 1976. With Catalina's evolutionary rather than revolutionary approach to design, many rolling improvements were introduced throughout the years. Hull number 2156 saw the introduction of an external fuel tank locker for additional safety. In June of 1985 with hull number 5139 the aluminum framed windows were replaced with flush frameless windows for a more modern look. A flurry of changes in the late 80's culminated with the introduction of an entirely new deck in June of 1988 with hull number 5803.

Abbreviations	Description
76<->80	Used on boats built during the years from and including 1976 through and including 1980
<-87	Used on boats built any year up to and including 1987
88->	Used on boats built any year from and including 1988
?82<->87	No record exists of the beginning date. 1982 is our best estimate
	If no years are specified, the part will work on any year model

This boat had about 10" of additional headroom when compared to the first generation boat.

From these examples, you can see that, with the aid of your hull number, we can more accurately determine the correct part. This is why we ask for your hull number when you call.

There are instances where changes were made at the factory and the exact hull number is not known. In these instances, our personal knowledge of the parts may be the only assistance you have in making a correct decision. If this is the case the range of years will be indicated ?82<->87, or 82<->87? or perhaps 87?->.

Crating Charges: Large or fragile items require special packaging in order for them to arrive in one piece. A boom or outboard motor bracket, for example, would always arrive damaged without special packaging.

Return Policy: Returns are welcome on stock items within 30 days of shipment. Special order and custom made items are not returnable.

For product returns call for an RMA number. Note the number on the outside of your return package. Returns sent without an RMA number will be refused.

Items returned for reasons other than a defect must be in new condition including original packaging and suitable for resale.

Non returnable Items

Custom Made Parts: You provide the information we need to build these product for you. Once you order it we are going to build it just for you, just as you asked based on your dimensions, color choice or perhaps your sample. We never want to see it again, and no one else wants it either. So be careful and order it correctly the first time because it can't be canceled, returned, or magically changed into something different!

Special Orders and Drop Ship: Special Order items are items that we do not stock and are only ordered when you call and ask for them. Drop Ships are those item that arrive directly from the manufacturer in order to save you some shipping costs. Examples: Furling gear, winches, non-stock hatch lenses, keels, and rudders.

When you order a special order item it sets off a chain of events like Willie Wonka in the chocolate factory. Once you turn the valve, the chocolate is coming down the pipe. If you then decide you want caramel, the chocolate is still going to come out of the pipe. We can't put the Chocolate back in the pipe, so someone is going to have to eat it, and it's not going to be us! Your order can't be canceled, returned, or magically changed into caramel, so please order carefully the first time!

Refunds or Credits: Refunds for credit card purchase that are returnable will be issued to your credit card account for the purchase price of the item. Checks for refund of a purchase paid by check will be issued for the purchase price of the item no sooner than 10 working days after our receipt of your original payment check. At your option we will credit your account at The Foredeck or ship replacement product.
